PRESS RELEASE

WASSCE INVIGILATION AND SUPERVISION

Management of Ghana Education Service wishes to remind all Regional/District Directors of Education, Supervisors and Invigilators that from Monday 3rd August 2020, the written papers in the WASSCE will commence.

Management of GES wishes to urge all Regional/District Directors, Supervisors and Invigilators to take extra precautionary measures to ensure that this year's examinations are malpractice free.

Management of GES equally wishes to urge all candidates to be extra conscious of activities which will have the potential of undermining the integrity of the examinations.

Management of GES is particularly concerned with the tendency for some persons to take WhatsApp shots of some Question Papers and circulate them to create the mischief that the examination questions leaked.

All Supervisors, Invigilators and candidates are to be extra careful and look out for such unacceptable practices since any such reported case will be thoroughly investigated and all those found culpable will be made to face the full rigours of the law.

Candidates are encouraged to prepare well and strive for independent work and depend on their individual abilities. Candidates should also be mindful of the implications of misconduct during the examinations which could lead to suspension and/or cancellation of results and the negative impact that development might have on their future prospects.

Managements stands by all the key players in the administration and conduct of the examinations and urge all to work together to protect the integrity of the examinations.
